On Destiny

Along your journey, there are certain people placed in your path.

Souls, meant to nourish, extending their hand to hold on steady.

Like a storybook, you write your own destiny, steer your own boat.

The spirits who stay with you as you walk through your passage

Are kindred spirits—teachers and learners.

Your need for them will be equal in energy to their happiness in knowing you.

There will be no resistance ever felt,

And your journey will be made more certain in walking beside them.
